The “Functional review of the human resource function and management capacities in Montenegrin municipal administrations” will serve as a basis for the HR management policy in municipal administration that is going to be further elaborated and adopted by the national and local authorities under the IPA 2010 Project. This analysis is also the first step in a larger project for enhancing human resource management in municipalities. Its main aim was to identify changes that should be made in the municipalities in order to maximize the impact of the future investment in HR management on citizens-oriented municipality and the best quality of services delivered. The situation was assessed in all municipalities in Montenegro, and the recommendations were discussed with the municipal senior officials, as well as with the relevant national stakeholders.
